The second staff continues the melody with the lyrics: "r all and all for al-ma ma-ter Here's". The third staff has the lyrics: "may she rule For ev-er". The fourth staff concludes with the lyrics: "and true." and includes a double bar line with first and second endings. Four stylized cat head illustrations are placed above the staves, each appearing to peek over the musical line. The first cat is above the first staff, the second above the second staff, the third above the third staff, and the fourth above the fourth staff. The lyrics are written in a simple, sans-serif font below the staves. The musical notation includes various note values, rests, and dynamic markings such as mf and accents.

The Ice Cream Year

The 1959 Owl takes its place on the shelf

Volume Forty-Six

Published by

Paris High School

Paris, Texas

SINCE MARCH, 1958, THE 1959 OWL Staff has been capturing on a few pages the year that each of you has enjoyed at PHS. All of the joys and sorrows, the laughter and tears, the excitement and let-downs, these have been the aims of the picture taking, copy writing, and hours of diligent thinking.

Much has happened this year, much, that without the excitement and awe of youth, would have meant little. All of these days of being young, living a full life, are days that make up what we chose to call one of Our Ice Cream Years, the Days of Our Youth. These years like ice cream, are rich and filling — rich with the wonder of learning big and new things, and with the pride of making ourselves good and clean citizens of a better tomorrow; filling because of the millions of delightful things that have to be crowded into each day.

And now this book is yours to love and cherish as a part of your life, for this is your life as you lived it from March, 1958, to March, 1959. Later when you are reading it with your children by the fireside, or when you are at home alone, may it help you remember this year that can only be lived once and then treasured forever — this year of thrills and growing and sharing — one of Our Ice Cream Years in the Days of Our Youth, soon to melt away, yet always to be savored as the flavor lingers on.

A NEW kind of carnival came to Paris High in May of 1958. Visual career counseling was presented as a carnival in the gym with booths lining the walls. At the Career Carnival selected advisers occupied the booths ready with a helping hand as students from Paris and surrounding communities crowded the floor of the gym.

ASSEMBLIES, plays, and parties proved fun for students at PHS. In the spring the student's fancy took on a new slant as studies were combined with merriment. Costumes had to be found, parts rehearsed, and programs planned, each adding to the gaiety of student life.

revealed to a capacity audience. After an hour and a half of rushed signing and extensive searching for personal pictures, all went home clutching prizes to themselves and looking forward to the next Owl-signing parties.

Genie Magic

With a purpose in mind, the exotic dance of Scheherazade (Topsy Hyde) entrances the sultan (Larry Abshire) as "Persian Paradise" is presented by the 1958 Juniors at the Junior Reception in the gym.

ALL CARES and worries were put aside as 1958 Juniors and Seniors entered for one night the world of Aladdin and his magic lamp. Following an enchanting program, the couples, among soft lights in a Persian garden, swayed to the music of their emcees and were captured in the spell of the fantastic magic lamp.

This magic lamp seems to be spouting something besides the Genie as Linda Sue Byers and Robert Stallings appear for presentation.

Genie Magic Theme Reflects Dreams Come True

Juniors on the welcoming committee take advantage of the lull in arrivals to discuss the foyer decorations.

The theme of the reception was evident in the giant palm trees and Persian lights strung from the ceiling.

By the look in her eyes, Linda Jones, 1958 Senior, must not believe day of graduation has finally come for her and Barbara Porteous.

Mr. Thomas S. Justiss, Superintendent of Paris Schools, presents Linda Sue Byers with her diploma, marking her four successful years at PHS.

According to Dr. Harold Hunt, principal speaker at the 1958 Grad Exercises and a 1941 graduate of PHS, "The world is at your feet are faithful in doing little things."

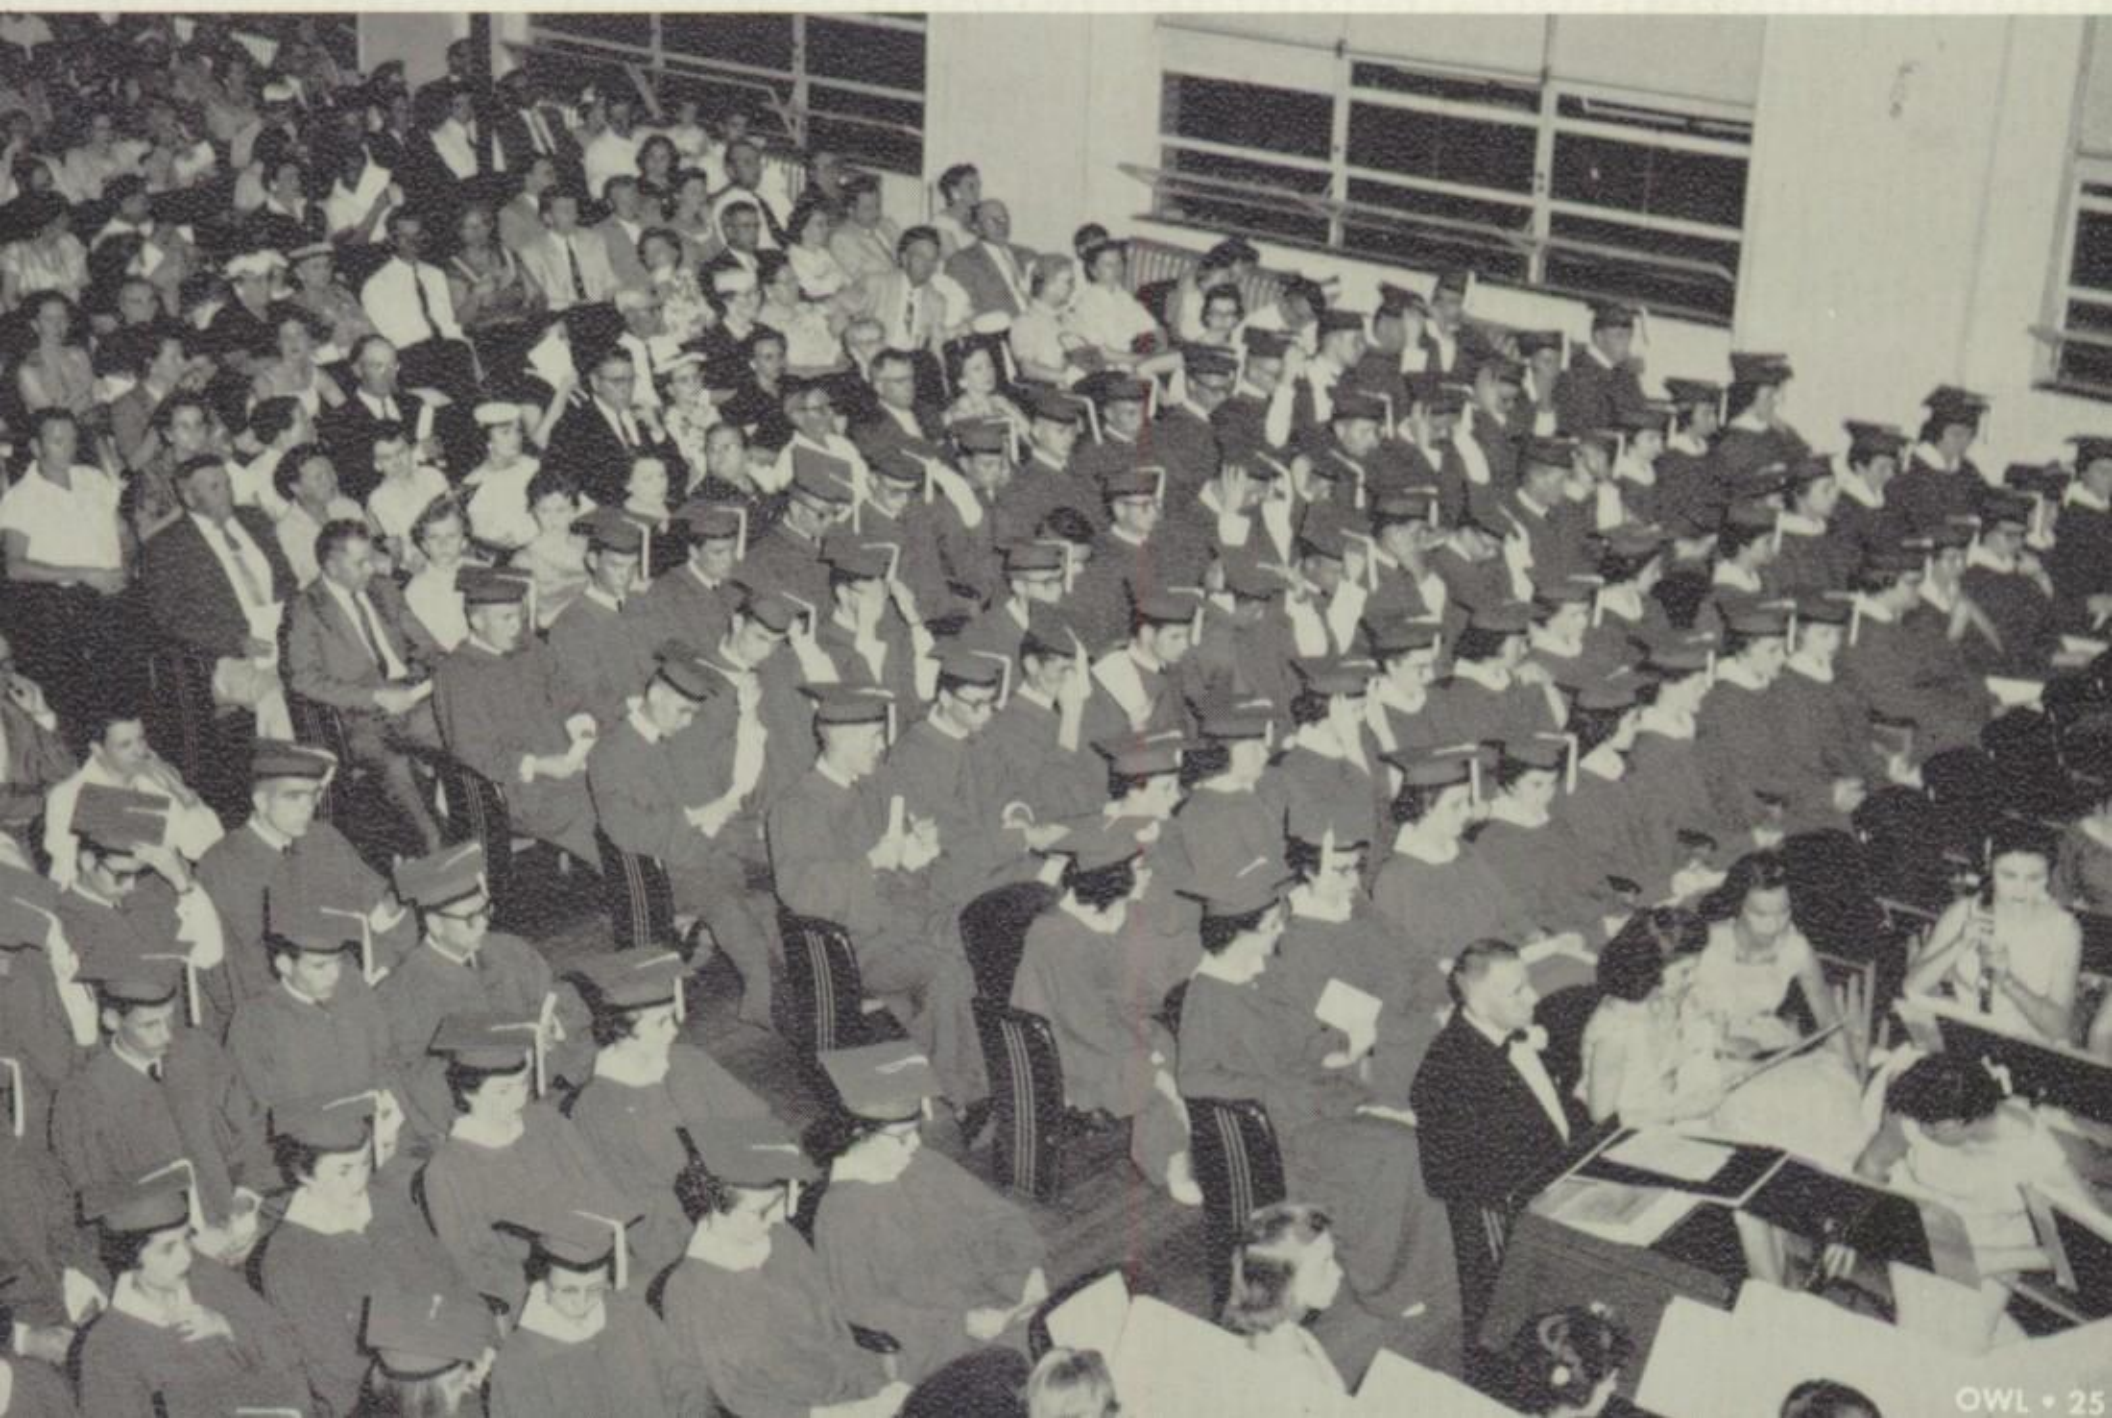

"graduation bug" begins to bite as Johnny Browning and Scott [unclear] receive their invitations from Mr. Jay Tom Holley.

After the Commencement Services, Gaye Burrow and Eddy Gale Goad lead the 1958 Seniors out of the First Methodist Church.

To begin the first semester, office-workers have to get things in order for the students and faculty. While Mrs. Hickman makes arrangements over the phone, Mary Nell Fletcher helps Amanda Stanley with her schedule.

Working must continue even in the summer for students who wish to make up work or get ahead on their credits.

September Brings Early Preparation

AS THE school term started, the students and faculty began to fit in the swing of things. While the classes were getting acquainted with new subjects, the Owl Staff delved into its work with the O-Day circulation campaign followed by class picture taking, and the faculty lined up the first semester's work in early morning faculty meetings. O-Day was introduced to the student body for the first time this year as a method of selling the yearbooks in record time. Football games, pep rallies, and parades helped round out the first month of school.

Pat Jessee poses for Mr. Wheat as the Juniors have pictures taken for the 1959 yearbook.

Before the meeting is called to order by Principal Christy Hamman, the PHS faculty discusses the numerous problems which confront them each school day.

The 5,731 books in the library offer DiAnn L'Roy a wide selection from which to choose. Any type book, whether prose or poetry, may be found on the library shelves of PHS.

HOMECOMING BROUGHT the students a special day to look forward to as they made preparations to enjoy each event as it came along. After many hours of work, the school was finally back-and-span. But it was worth it; this was a day for both students and friends of PHS. For the students it meant wearing mums, crowning the queen, watching a parade, playing a ball-game (PHS lost 14-12), and being with the "exes" at the Open House after the game. For the friends it meant seeing once again their Alma Mater and reliving the treasured past with old acquaintances.

The traditional silver and rhinestone crown is given to Queen Martha Huddleston by the 1958 Homecoming Queen, Gerry Barnett, to be treasured for a year and then handed on.

Mr. Dee Cunningham reminds NHS members of their obligation to set good examples at all times before the student body and at home.

These loud voices topped yaching throats equal the "Se spirit" at PHS.

Cool November Wind Augments Wildcat Spirit

BESIDES THE first chilling winds, November brought ous activities for eager PHS students. Serious business mixed with pleasure making each day fun-filled. Newly-elected National Honor Society members were initiated, while on light side, Seniors made megaphones to "out yell" the Freshmen. Football games, contests, initiations, and plans for a two-weeks' vacation sustained us while we counted the days until Christmas.

Beth Brooks, Jo Anne Bowen, and Jane Armstrong receive rewards from Mr. Floyd Weger for being top magazine salesmen in the band's subscription sale.

Rickey Maness and Charles Allen install an air-conditioner in the homemaking laboratory.

"That one on bottom is mine!" Ralphann Hostetler points to a megaphone, as Seniors prepare to lead the way in backing Wildcats all the way.

"A penny for your thoughts? No, a penny for good luck!" Wanda Arnold, head yell leader, distributes lucky pennies to Wildcats Doug Bryans and Butch Perry.

Wildcats, beat those Lions!" the yell leaders as they "get up" in the pep rally preceding the ville-Paris football game.

Santa Brings a Stocking Full of Holiday Cheer

SPREADING CHRISTMAS cheer, having good will toward men," started that warm glow of good feeling in the month of December. Assemblies, parties, the bustle of Christmas shopping gave PHS that "happy feeling" that invariably comes with the holiday season. As the time drew near, students could be found in the classrooms and in the halls, but not in this world . . . for they were engaged in the pleasant pastime called day-dreaming.

Bassano, Buffy Graham, and Pat Pyle in the role of Santa Claus distribute gifts at the Christmas party.

Parties . . . Dates . . . Christmas Shopping . . . Presents . . . All this made our hearts a little larger and our pocketbooks a little smaller, as the Christmas Spirit invaded PHS.

Miss Oliver, as well as Mr. Cunningham, seems very well pleased with the sweater given Mr. Cunningham by the faculty for Christmas.

As part of their mid-term physics exam, Larry Oakes and Denis Frank seem intent on proving to Mr. Eugene Thielman that electricity produces heat.

January Calendar is Filled

WITH CHRISTMAS holidays at an end, the PHS students returned into the usual routine of sports, studying, and social life. By January of '59 brought highlights of new activities to add to the schedule.

Studies meant more than a book and long lectures, as experiments and demonstrations with science and new equipment became part of learning. Seniors donned their gayest mood, letting their hair down at the Senior Social, a unique idea for a mid-season party limited to Faculty and Seniors; and sports enjoyed a social of its own with parties, home-town heroes, and after-game walks.

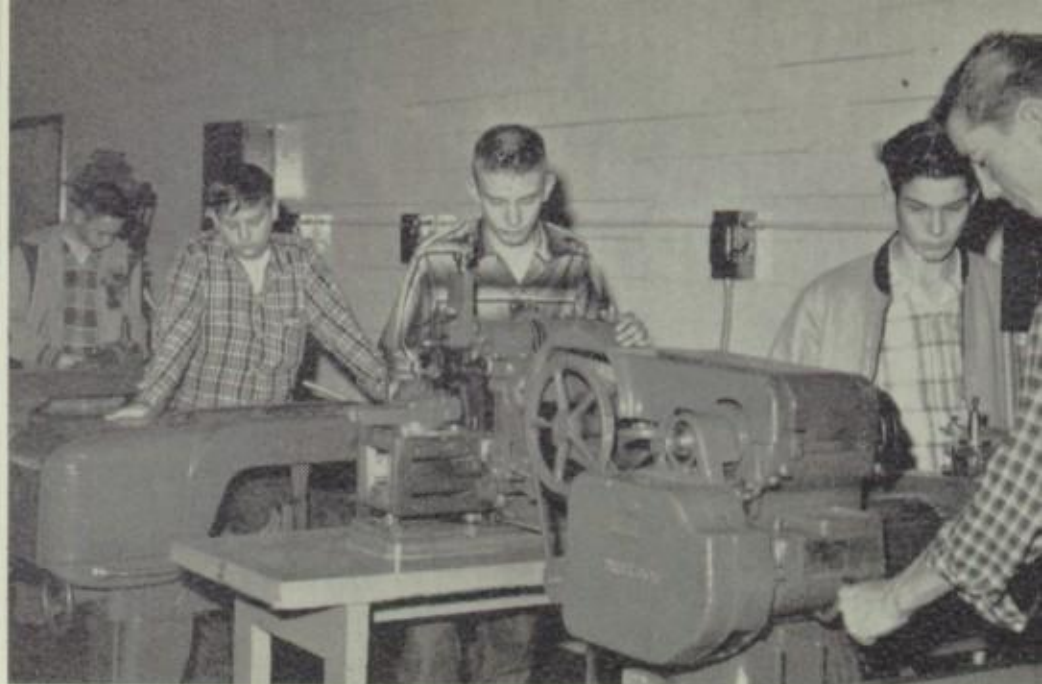

Tasty cakes don't last long around hungry boys. Barney Bray seems delighted with the cake Plug Clem is handing him at the after-game cake walk sponsored by the Key Club.

Hoping that Lady Luck is with them, these Bingo players wait for Buffy Graham to call that winning number at the Senior Social.

her's coaching pays off for Raymond E. Berry, professional football player and former PHS student. Mr. Felix son, Raymond E. Berry, Coach Paul Lively, and PHS ch Raymond Berry discuss old times with the visiting professional football player.

Newness creates interest, as new machines placed in the metal shop by the school are tested by Stephen Moore, Billy Joe Winfrey, Dewayne Self, Richard Dingman, and Jimmy Glenn. Mr. Sam Skidmore is the shop teacher.

Despite Annual Dead Week and Examinations

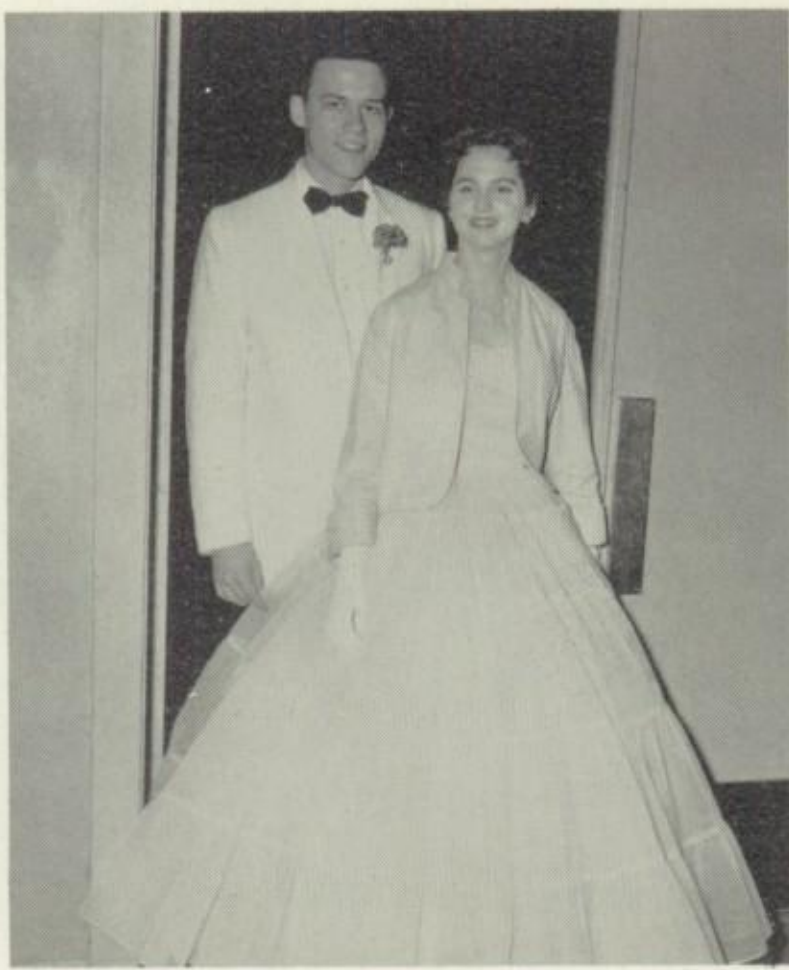

January brought mixed emotion as students came and went with the end of the first semester. For some Seniors this meant time to think of college, others learned that they had enough credits to spend their last semester in college, and some, with mid-term exams behind, experienced that wonderful feeling of being exempt from finals!

The era of mah-jongg, backgammon, and flapper dresses comes back with a swing as Plug Clem and Diane Walker shag during the intermission program at the Senior Social.

February Reveals Valentine and Heart Royalty

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Dee Cunningham, Senior boys are measured for caps and gowns, looking forward to graduation in May. Mr. David Clark and Mr. R. F. Edwards, faculty members, assist the Seniors.

IN FEBRUARY with parties, elections and honors, students found gaiety in curricular activities. Tri-Hi-Y and elections determined the hero and heart. As for the results of these elections, the word until the Tri-Hi-Y sponsored "Valentine Fascination" Dance during intermission winners were revealed: Betsy Hyde and Jimmy Lee.

Student Council members were kept busy as activities soared high. February brought the Northeast Texas Forum to campus and numerous jobs for council members as hosts for the meeting. Just as council members had recovered, along came the cans of nuts to sell. Cashews, pecans, peanuts found a path to hungry stomachs as teams strove to sell the most. Raising money for the heart fund, the Council sponsored election of the King and Queen of Hearts for a penny a vote. Again Seniors proved driving spirit by electing Mary Nell Farris and Jimmy Lee.

Senior honor students were rewarded for their hard work and notable scholarship with letters from the Key Club. On the left, a lamp of knowledge insignia for outstanding ability. This new idea, including scholarship for the top Senior girl and boy in each field, encouraged students toward scholarship and set a goal for hard workers.

IN SEPTEMBER of '58, nominations for Sweethearts were made on O-Day when students bought their 1959 yearbooks. After nominees were narrowed to one boy and one from each of the four classes, the campaign really got "hot." With posters, slogans, and a lot of pep, each class set out with determination to elect its nominees. But the hardest part for students was after the ballots were cast—waiting for the results.

Amid excitement and a flurry of masked fans, the class nominees were honored at a masquerade party jointly sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y and Student Staff on October 17. And Professional Women and Junior Rotarians

MEETING WITH the Rotarians at noon every day during his month, the Junior Rotarian had his neatest appearance and set out with the best manners, eager to make a good impression on the leaders of our town. The girls, just as interested as the boys with their meeting, tried hard to be "perfect young ladies," as they were accepted as honorary members of the business and professional world. Making new friends, climbing the ladder toward a professional tomorrow, being recognized as good material for civic organizations, these future leaders proudly took their places as Junior Business and Professional Women and as Junior Rotarians, representing well themselves, their school, and their families.

Bobby Harris Ginna Stone
Mr. and Miss Optimist
for 1958

GOOD CHARACTER, personality, scholarship—these are a few of the qualifications for the boy and girl chosen to be Mr. and Miss Optimist. These two students were selected by the Senior Sponsors as the couple who most represented, to them, optimism.

Ginna has been a class officer for several years, NHS Reporter, Representative to Girls' State, Student Council Chaplain, and has served as an assembly emcee. She has also been Spanish Club Secretary and President, a member of the Latin Club, Poetry Club, and Tri-Hi-Y. Her Senior year Ginna was Editor of The Owl. Other than being very popular with the students and energetic in all her school curriculum, she is also an active member of the Central Presbyterian Church.

Besides being class president for his Junior and Senior years and vice-president in Sophomore year, Bobby was a homeroom officer for three years and a member of the "A" band, serving as vice-president of the band in his Junior year. He was NHS Vice President, Key Club President and Vice President, an assembly emcee for two years, and Junior Best All-Round. Bobby was Best State Representative, a member of the Home Engineers Club, and rounding out his hectic schedule, he was a member of the tennis team.

Senior Sponsors Select Mr. and Miss Optimist

Living up to all the things which her title of Miss Optimist involves, Ginna Stone explains just exactly what optimism means to her.

Whether silently watching a football game or sitting in class, Bobby Harris strives to instill in others his optimism to be a good example of optimism.

Each Class, Entire School Elect Best Citizens

GOOD CITIZENSHIP—the mark of excellent character, abilities, and respect for others. This was the quality in question as the citizenship committee of students and faculty met to select twenty students from each class to run for its Best Citizens. From this slate Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors chose their outstanding citizens. The eight students receiving most votes in each class ran for the all-school title. Here Seniors proved their ability to pick first-rate material when Martha Huddleston and Mickey Flippen, Senior Best Citizens, received the All-School Best Citizen awards.

In assembly, Seniors Martha Huddleston and Mickey Flippen proudly accept awards for All-School Best Citizens from Mr. Dee Cunningham, principal.

Nancy Bledsoe, Marian Bledsoe, David Griffin, and V. Arnold.

Behind Us in Loyalty, in Front of Us in Spirit

"They fit just fine!" The yell leaders seem satisfied with their well-earned letter sweaters.

Spirit comes first with the yell leaders, as they work behind the scenes making pennants featuring the pictures and names of the football players.

"DO WE have to wear our full uniforms?" echo the "Mighty Six," as they prepared for an assembly. When someone was needed to back the team, they were always on the job, leading the school in spirit, loyalty, and pep. Making posters, decorating lockers for Homecoming, working on new and old yell routines were some of the many activities which kept the yell leaders busy. They attended all athletic games and led yells in rain, sleet, and snow. With the backing and help of their sponsor, Miss Francis Hicks, our yell leaders added gaiety, honor, and color to our school.

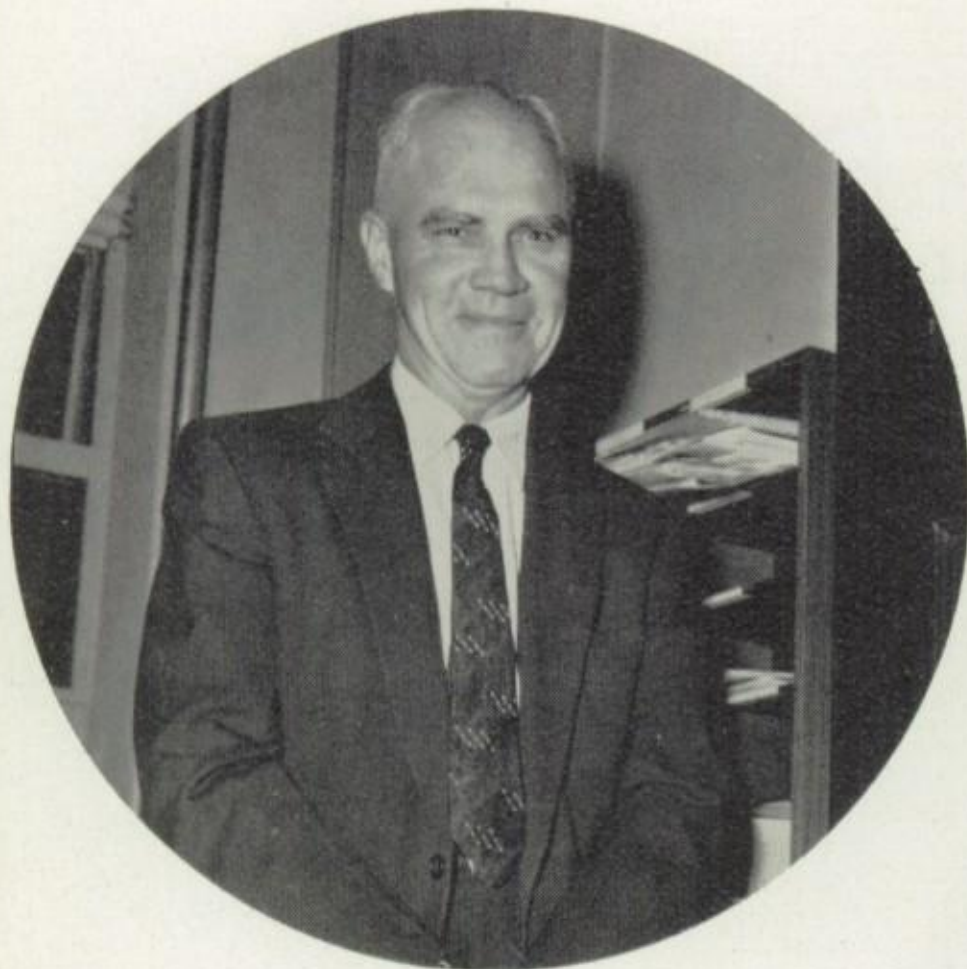

"What do you say, Wildcats?" seems to be the catchword of these six bundles of vim, vigor, and vitality . . . our yell leaders.

Weatherford Blisters Wildcats 40-6

BIG, BRAUNY, and brutal fully describe Weatherford Kangaroos in their 40-6 defeat of the Wildcats in Weatherford. Halfback Mickey Flippen's 14-yard dash, preceded by his 57-yard run, gave the Cats their only 6 points in this ignominious loss to the hands of mighty Weatherford. A spirited cat line held the Kangaroos to only six points in the first half of the game.

Wildcats Stunned by Waxahachie 22-6

GUARD HURSELL Stinson's fumble recovery in the end zone was the route Paris had to take to score after every other attempt had failed. The team did very little correct in Waxahachie, as poor fumbles, and injuries cost the Wildcats in their loss to the Indians.

Cats "Pass" Over Sherman 19-14

PASS, PASS, and pass again was the catch-word of the Wildcats as "rifle-arm" Poppy Langley connected with ends Ralph Shelton and Jimmy Singer for three touchdowns in an upset victory over AAA Sherman in Paris. The outstanding player for the Wildcats was End Ralph Shelton. Shelton's consistent pass receiving along with his two touchdowns, sparked the Wildcats to this 19-14 surprise win over a traditional foe, Sherman.

Frank rushes to quarterback Langley's aid as the Bonham Warriors "snow" Langley under. Paris lost 27-6.

Wildcats Hold Denison 14-14

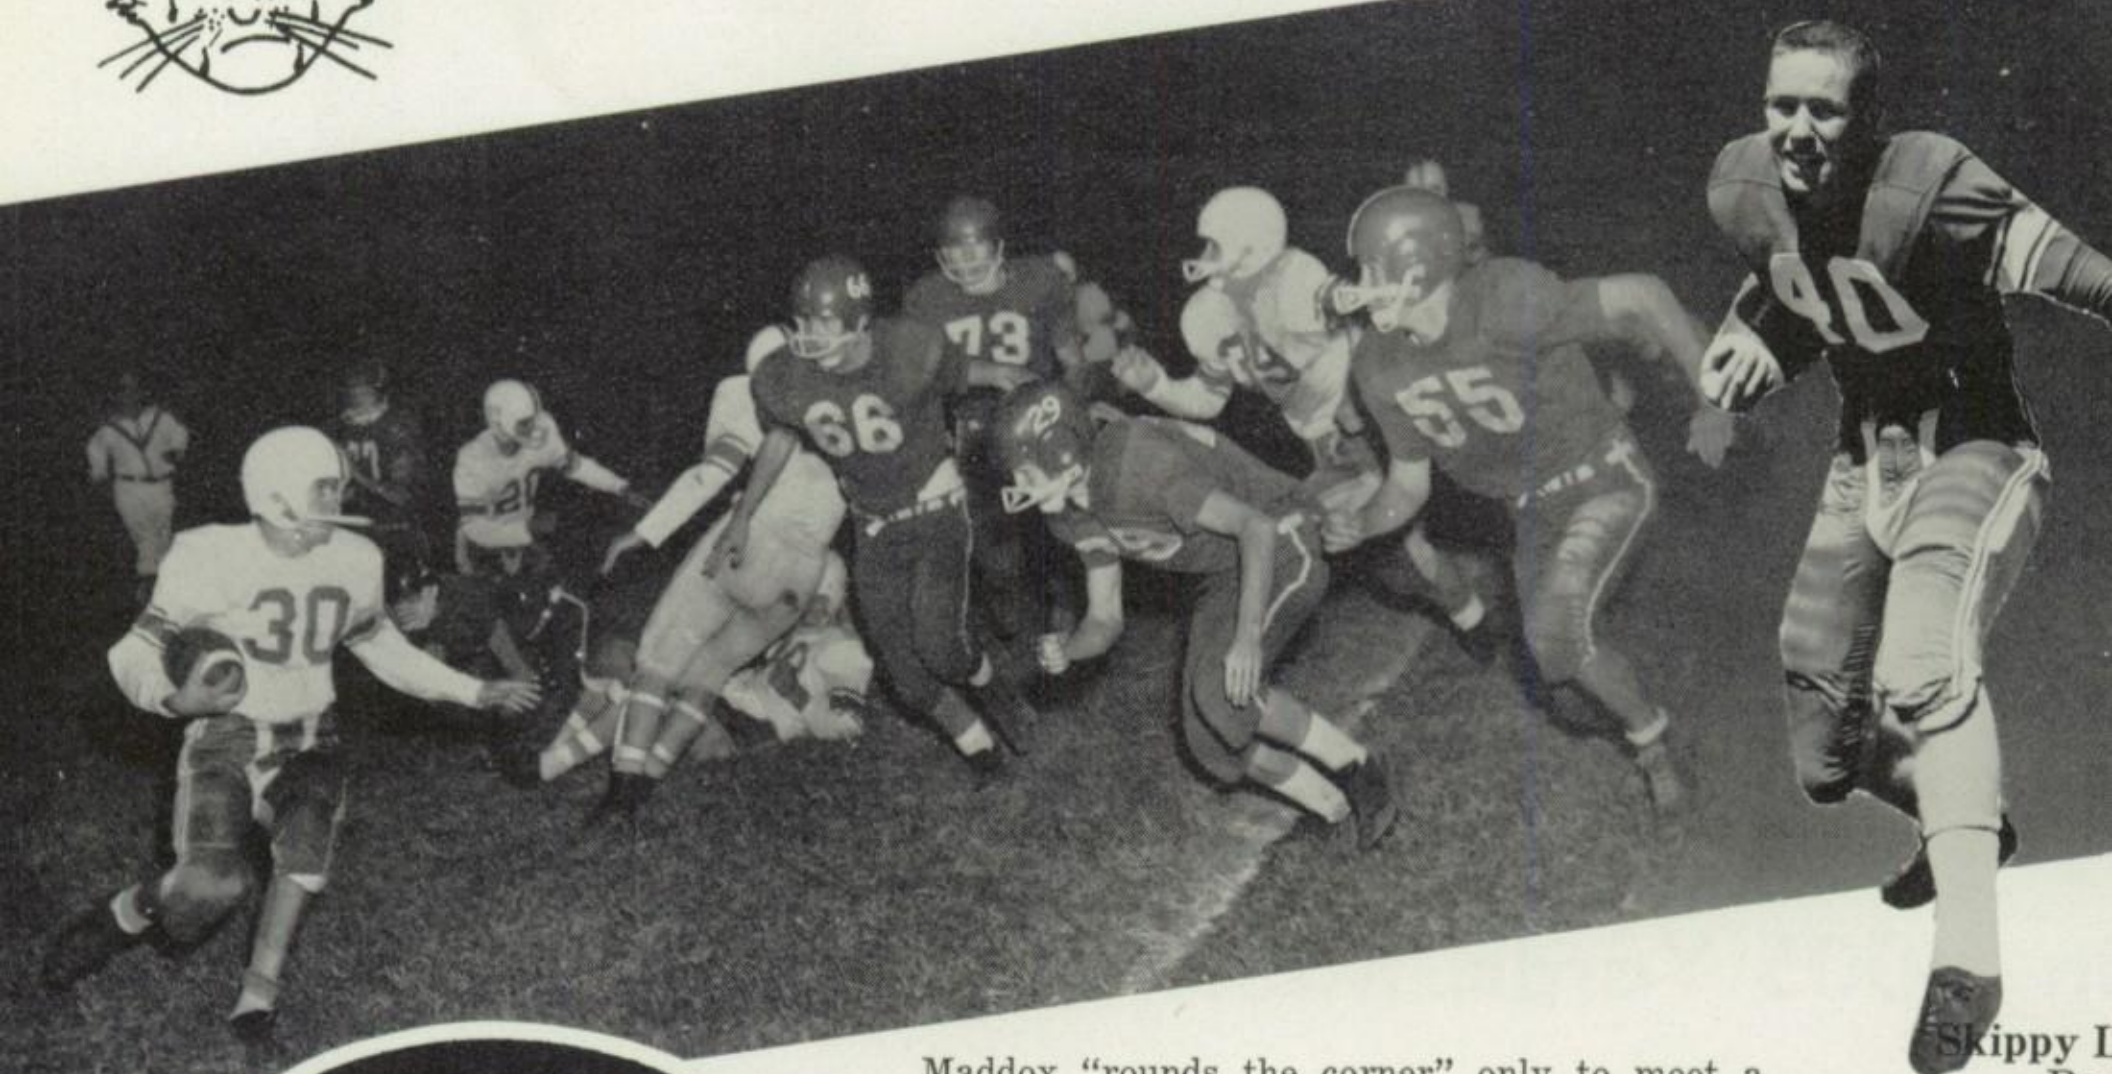

ON THIS, the final non-conference game of the season for Paris, Denison fell victim to the passing attack of the Wildcats by neglecting it. Fullback Denis Frank scored a touchdown and set up a second, while Shelton ran up an impressive 8.2 yards per carry average. The end result of these efforts was a 14-14 tie with an age-old rival, Denison.

Shelton-bound Flippen eludes a determined Denison tackler as he puts on a burst of speed. Paris beat Sherman 19-14.

THE ONLY bright spot in a night of was the fine running of Back Mickey Flip the disastrous 54-8 game with the Leop Gainesville. This deceptive score was the of mistake after mistake by the Cats, with ville taking advantage and turning each into a touchdown.

Mt. Pleasant Crawls Over Cats 33-6

BADLY CRIPPLED, dispirited, and d was the after-game story in Mt. Pleasant. Paris team fought with fire and determ for the first three quarters; however, injur bad breaks transformed the Wildcats into a less team, which allowed the Mt. Pleasant to coast to an easy 33-6 win.

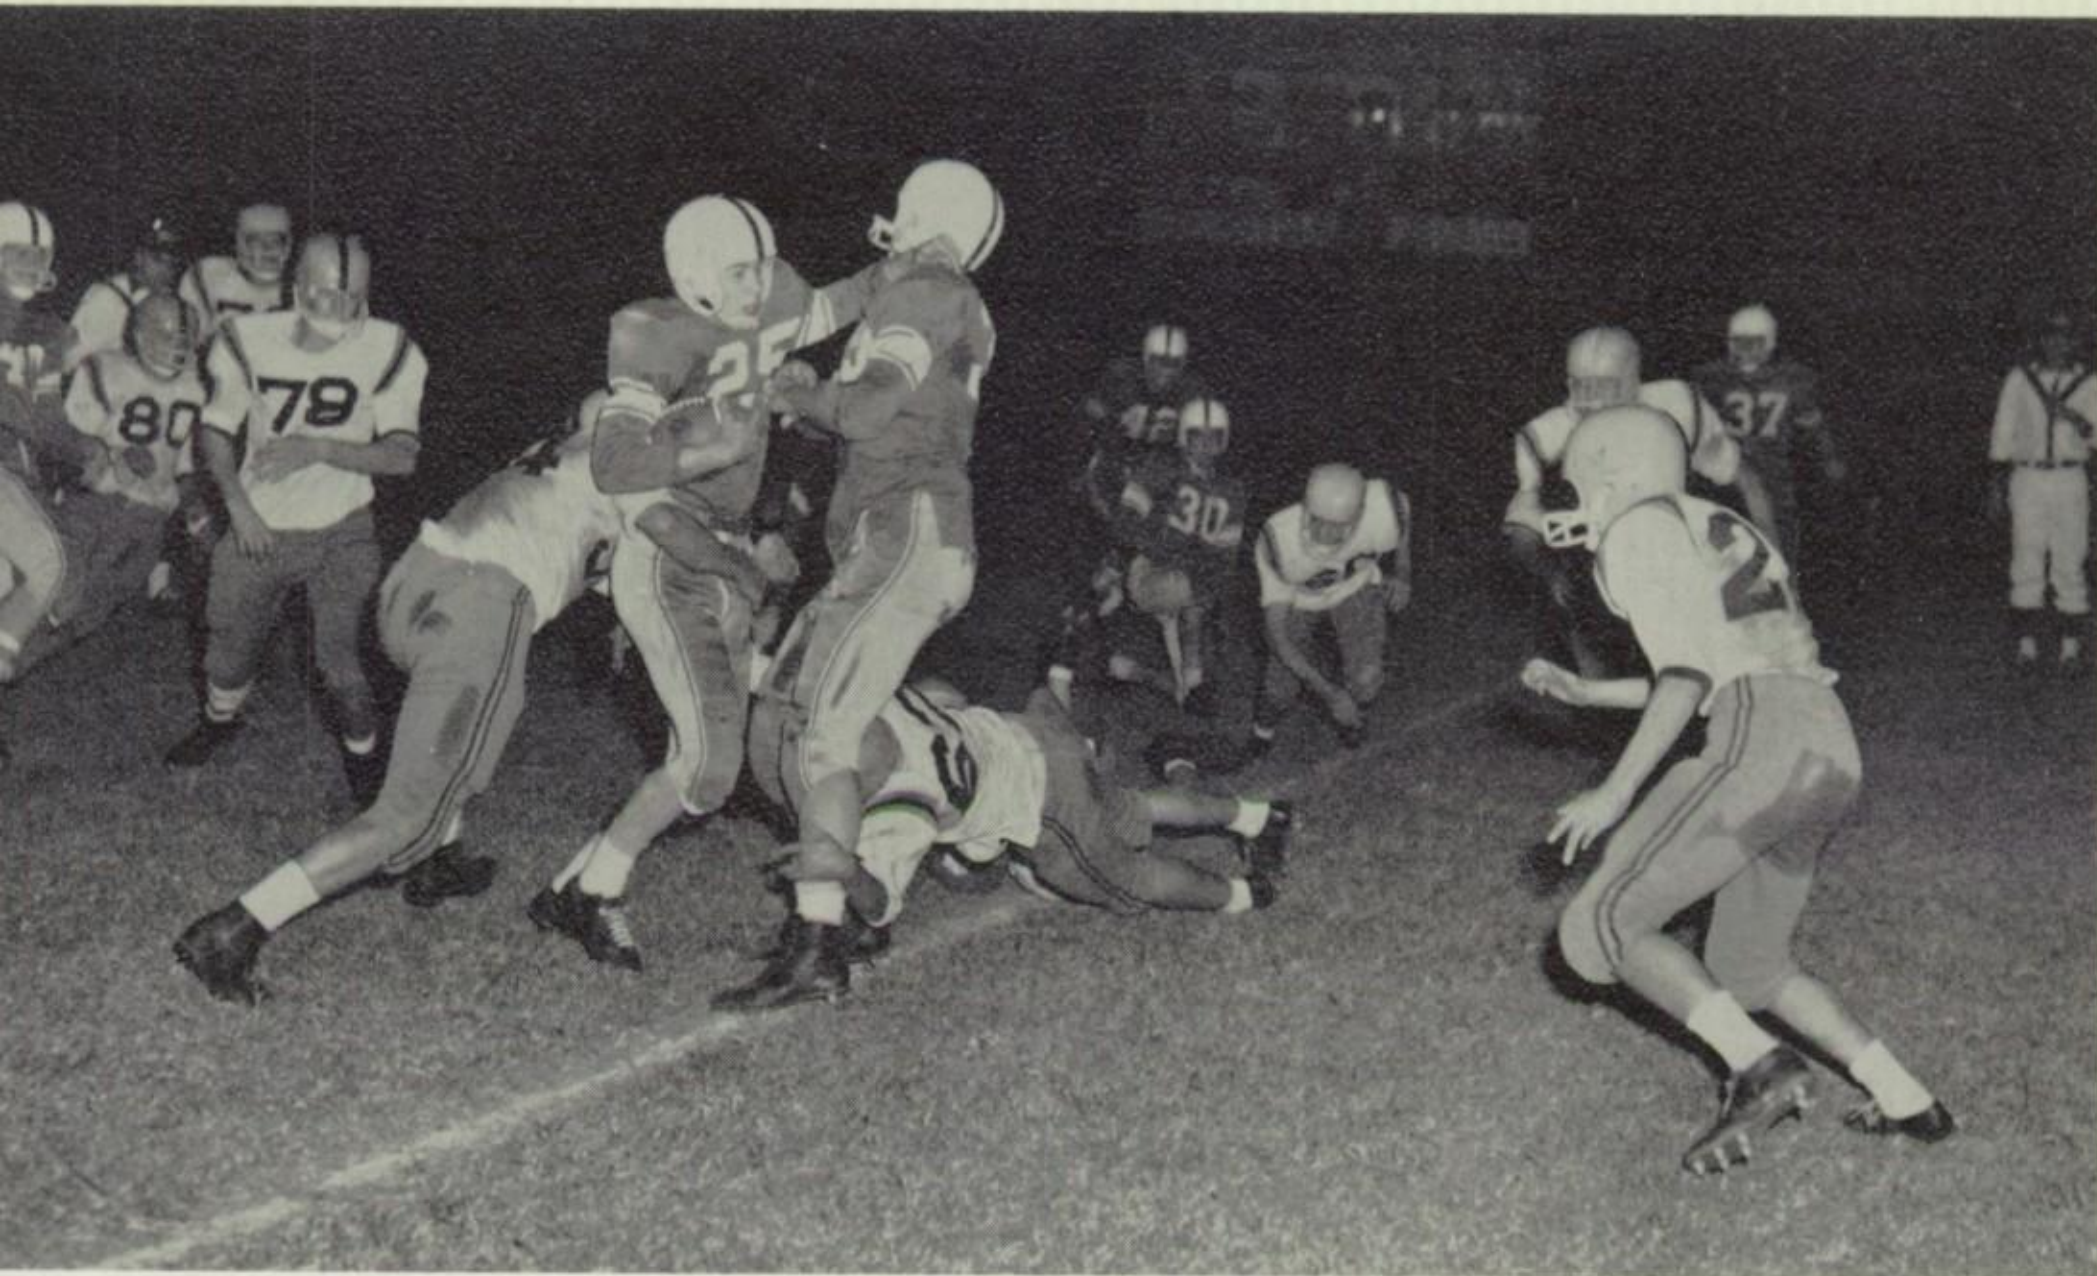

Coaches Raymond Berry, Peter Barnett, and Robert Abshire advise Cummings about game strategy against Sherman.

McKinney Sneaks by Wildcats 14-12

SKIPPY LANGLEY completed 196 yards in passes for two touchdowns as favored McKinney eked out a 14-12 victory over the fighting Wildcats. Superb passing, brilliant defense, and Homecoming inspiration led the Wildcats to one of their finest games of the season. Conference champion McKinney had to fight for this one to maintain district leadership.

After snagging a pass, Singer eludes a Sherman tackler to scamper across for six points. Sherman lost 14-19.

Flippen fails to get past his blocker and is swarmed by a host of Mt. Pleasant Tigers. The score favored Mt. Pleasant 33-6.

Cats Win Two to Place Fourth in District

Wildcats Scratch Sulphur Springs 7-0

ENIS FRANK'S lightning slashes, combined with the finest blocking of the season, led the Cats to a 7-0 triumph over Sulphur Springs at Noyes Stadium in Paris. The attack of the Cats was keyed by a great defensive wall that held a highly touted Sulphur Springs offense to a mere 101 yards rushing. Blocking was at a peak for the Wildcats, when a crucial block by Keith Baughman sprang Mickey Flippen for 33 yards and the only score of the game.

Wildcats Lick Greenville 13-6

GREENVILLE SLASHED and crashed against an unusually tough Paris defense as the defensive line held the Lions for only 9 yards rushing. In this final conference game of the season, Larry Abshire responded to the challenge on offense and sliced Greenville's defense to a 6.6 yards-per-carry average and one touchdown in this 13-6 win for the Wildcats.

Stinson seems intent on helping teammate Abshire stop the Greenville ballcarrier for a short gain in Greenville.

Finish Third in District 6AAA With 6-4 Record

BASKETBALL opened for the Wildcats with a 66-30 victory over Hugo on December 2. Fort Worth Tech fell to Paris 67-49 and 60-56 in a two-game series in Paris. A bitter contest ensued in Sherman with the Cats winning 48-47. Paris then dumped Hugo for the second time 62-27 and Sherman 72-48. Bonham succumbed to the sharp shooting of the Wildcats 58-51, and Mt. Vernon fell 49-41.

Paris' first defeat of the season came at the hands of Texas High in Texarkana 55-46. December 29th found the Cats the victims of revenge-minded Mt. Vernon 48-47. Texas High of Texarkana lost in Paris to the Wildcats 64-61, and thus inspired the Wildcats to an impressive 51-40 triumph over Bonham. Non-conference play came to an end during a two-game series with Denison. Paris took the first game 59-39, but Denison bounced back for a 56-42 win over the Wildcats in Denison.

McKinney was the first victim of the Wildcat conference bid when they were defeated 57-39 January 13th. An upset victory was in the mind of the Cats when Greenville came to Paris, but the victory failed to materialize, as the Lions saw the Cats sprawling 58-35. Sulphur Springs handed Paris its second District 6AAA defeat 53-44. A 60-56 surprise win over Mt. Pleasant restored the Wildcats' spirits and urged them on to an 87-17 rout over Gainesville to end the first half of district play.

Second half play opened with a solid 59-49 win over underdog McKinney. District 6AAA Champion Greenville gave the Wildcats a resounding 41-25 defeat in Greenville. Paris bounced back to hand Sulphur Springs a 58-55 loss. A 49-42 defeat by Mt. Pleasant killed the Wildcats' conference hopes. Gainesville was the recipient of the Cats' wrath in the season's final game which Paris won 77-66, thus gaining an undisputed third place in District 6AAA.

TENNIS pre-district play found the 1958 PHS team, coached by Miss Francenia Hicks, winning over Sulphur Springs in two non-conference matches. District 13AA play was not so good, however. Girls' doubles, Barbara White and Beth Brooks, and singles, Niki Smith, took only two second places. Boys' doubles, Jerry Branum and David Rainey, and singles, Bill Mathews, failed to place in district play. The 1959 season with the above players will be recorded in the 1960 year book.

Netters Take Second in Girls' Singles, Doubles

TRACK at PHS took on a new look as the '58 Wildcats played host to a triangular track meet with Bonham and Mt. Pleasant. Bonham swept the meet with ease. In 13AA track competition the team, with Mr. Billy Reddell as coach, finished second in the district. Jim Clark in low hurdles, Cunningham in the 440, and Jack Wilson in pole vault placed and qualified for the regional meet in Dallas, but they failed to win there. 1959 results will come in a later edition of the yearbook.

GOLF attained new interest in Paris High when the 1958 golf team, coached by Mr. Paul Lively, took the District 6AAA golf tournament with the runner-up fifty-two strokes behind. Tommy Hyde's 78 was low enough to win first place individual honors. His teammates, Bobby Phillips and H. T. Hyde, took second and third places respectively. In regional play the team failed to place. The 1959 team results came too late to be included in this book.

Cats Rebuild for Sixth Consecutive 6AAA Title

The 1958 Baseball Season

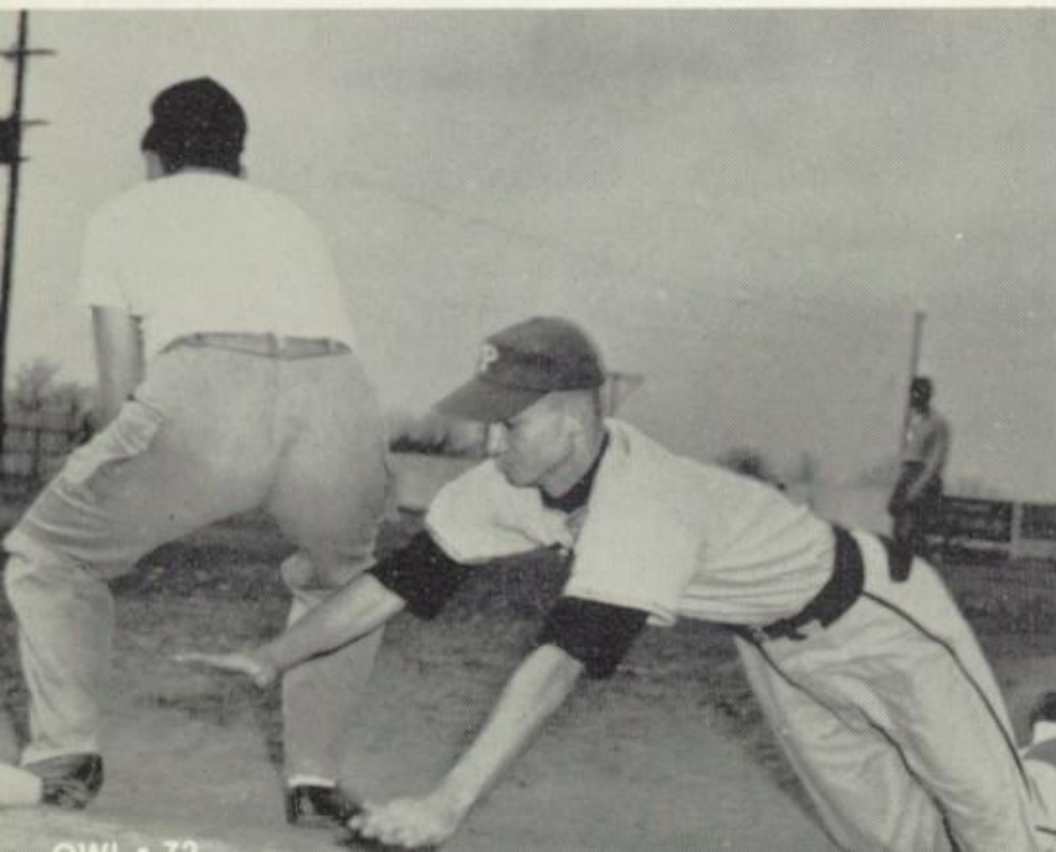

HAMPERED BY bad weather during the short weeks that they had to prepare for play, the Wildcats played only three non-conference practice games. In the first game polished off Hugo 8-5. The next two, both Paris Junior College, found the Wildcats on the short end of the score 13-0 and 8-3.

After entering District 6AAA play, the cats played the first half without defeat. Entering the second half, McKinney defeated them 9-6. Close on the heels of this defeat was a loss to Mt. Pleasant 3-2.

Outstanding ball was pitched all season by hurlers Christy Hamman, Jackie Bailey, and Mike Long. This, backed up by the clutch hitting of the entire team, led the Wildcat to their sixth consecutive District 6AAA championship.

Paris had hoped for greater things as they entered the Bi-District play with Brewer School of Ft. Worth. But these hopes were crushed as Brewer brushed off the Wildcats in the first two games 3-1 and 1-0.

Denis Frank slides into first base ahead of the throw from the Hugo pitcher in the Wildcats' first practice game of the season. The Cats won 8-5.

"PRACTICE, PRACTICE, practice" was the key word for band students as they played an important part in school life. The setting of a football game, parade, or pep assembly was not complete until the band had swung into action.

Yet after the football season was over, there were still performances to make as it became a custom for the band, presenting spring concerts annually. Whether for civic organizations or school assemblies, an enjoyable program was presented.

Mr. Weger, Band Director, and Rosemary Garrett, Drum Major, prepare a perfect band formation for the final performance of Rosemary's second and last year as PHS Drum Major.

SUCCESS of a band is due to the work of individual member and the time and effort of the director. Mr. Floyd Weger since has been the guiding light for the Paris School Blue Blazes and Blue Flames. As usual, played an important part in our activities. Magazine subscriptions sold to students, faculty, and friends. Members who put forth extra effort were given prizes, and the winning team was taken to all the ice cream it could eat. More than a thousand dollars was earned and used in buying jackets for Senior band members financing band trips. Twenty-five outstanding bandmen played in the All-Region event of whom were chosen for positions in the All-State Band. These seven were Bill Herring, Jane Armstrong, Larry Stewart, Bernadette Gage, Beth Brooks, Marcia Johnson, and Mary Etta Enloe. Nursing Offers a Future

WHAT COULD be more thrilling than to say, "I helped save a life today?" Members of the Future Nurses are whole-heartedly preparing for the fulfillment of this dream. Programs for the year were based on the field of practical and professional nursing. This enabled the members to find out what nursing requires and what it offers them. The many projects of the year centered around personal and community health. All Senior members received FNC pins as a reward for their efforts in behalf of the career of nursing.

DAYS OF our youth in Tri-Hi-Y were days of learning—learning Faith, Hope, Charity, and seeking to establish Christian character at home, in the community, and in the school. Because service was the objective of the club, members participated in service projects. Joining with Hi-Y in initiation, Masquerade Party, the Christmas party (“Paris Holiday”), and the presentation of the Tri-Hi-Y Hero were events to remember. Deadlines, Trips, &

While outsiders wondered about the mystery under construction in Room 116 (THE OWL office), organizations, sports, classes, and all phases of school life were compiled and recorded in the diary of 1959 at PHS.

Working hard for the next deadline are Frankie Edwards, Literary Editor; Betty Burks, Organizations Editor; Una May O'Brien, Publicity Editor; Kay Bank-

Editor; Jerry Dicken, Production Editor; and Mary Ann Harlan, Circulation Manager; write copy for the organizations section.

• Parties Provide Full Year for 21 OWL Staffers

AS THE rooster crowed at the dawn of each day, Owl staffers were on their way to school . . . they had important business! A yearbook was in the making and nothing could stand in the way! Working together, helping each other, the staff began compiling The Owl for '59. Throughout the day, jobs were completed and new ones explored to make this yearbook something different. (The air conditioner left by the '58 Owl staff did give a boon!) And in doing our part, we learned to think of others and to appreciate a job well done. Our yearbook came to mean much to us. We worked, planned, and loved each step it took to produce the fulfillment of our dreams.

Yet this work wasn't the only thing to occupy the staffer's time. Sponsoring Homecoming, having a prom on KPLT, taking part in impromptu parties, surprising Miss Hankins with odds and ends, and making trips out of town . . . each shared moment became ours. Our treasure, our never-to-be-forgotten Ice Cream Year, the Days of Our Youth.

AS IMPRESSIVE as a lime float — These are the people of Paris High. The faculty, administration, and students alike had all of the enthusiasm possible, in class and out. Our leaders were always ready to praise, discipline, and urge us on to higher goals. Our friends learned we were eager to share their tears, laughter, conversations, and worries. These were the people that will impress us as we reminisce on our Ice Cream Year, the Days of Our Youth.

Mrs. J. C. Coker, Secretary to the Superintendent, takes dictation from Mr. Thomas S. Justiss, Superintendent of Paris Public Schools.

A Friendly Smile, a Helping Hand Signifies

OUR SUPERINTENDENT, Mr. Thomas S. Justiss, was at home both on the speaker's stand and beside the player's bench. Whether it was a special assembly, initiation, or graduation, he was there with a friendly smile and a word of advice, helping each student find his footing in a cheerful attitude, undying support, and inspiring speeches won for him a special niche in the heart of each PHS student. "For once in a while there were folks like you."

Thrashing out school affairs are Mr. Grady Fry, Mr. Cedric L. Dirks, Mr. L. F. Dirks, Mr. Walter Bassano, Mr. Jesse Gunderman, Ray Walters, and Mr. Thomas S. Justiss.

FIGURES, FIGURES, figures! Mr. W. H. Freeman, Business Manager; Mrs. Jimmy Boyers, Business Secretary; and J. C. Coker, Secretary to Superintendent, were constantly confronted with long columns of figures and endless correspondence in their efforts to keep our school operating in the dark and before the public. They made up the business staff which made our year in PHS so pleasant and profitable.

Mr. W. H. Freeman, Business Manager; and Mrs. Jimmy Boyers, Business Secretary, look over blueprints connected with improving Paris Public Schools.

Interest of School Board and Business Staff

NEW TEACHERS, projects, advice, and activities were the business of the School Board. The body with the final authority, they sacrificed their time and talents to make our school a better one. Friends, aides, assistants, all these were the seven men on the board who became an essential part of each student's life and helped make Ice Cream Year, the Days of Youth, the best possible.

AN HONOR was given for the arrangements made, and an important decision reached. It was all a normal day for our principal, Mr. Dee Cunningham. Along with these special duties, there were times when we sought advice, a helping hand, or just a friendly word. Yet he endlessly devoted himself to us with an interest that made him a part of each class, a part of each student's life.

TARDY EXCUSES . . . telephone messages, records, files, and information! Day after day, office workers were kept busy with all the work allotted to them. While Mrs. A. V. Wacasey, secretary, and her "busy little bees" buzzed around the main office, Mr. Cunningham took care of important matters in his own office. But business wasn't his only concern; he seemed to enjoy discussing future plans with the students, surprising them with rewards for their achievements, and stopping a while for a friendly visit.

Past, Present Unite in History Class

HISTORY IS the study of today's events tomorrow. Students in our history classes have enjoyed both ancient and current history, and our one world has become smaller under the teaching of Miss Marijo Oliver, Mr. David Clark, Sam Sanders, and Mr. Billy Reddell as they helped bridge the gap between the old and new world. In American and Texas history we develop a new understanding of our country under the versatile guidance of Mr. R. F. Edwards and Miss Martha Hankins.

Mr. Edwards illustrates his point with the map to American history students.

BALLAD STUDY . . . conjugating . . . translating . . . vocabulary drill . . . speeches and tests were well known parts of the PHS language department. Students became familiar with the fundamentals of English, Latin, German, and Spanish. While speech imparted culture, it also helped shy students conquer those "butterflies" when speaking in public.

Scholarship Qualifying Tests and IQ Tests pointed out the need for better English usage and reading as English attained new prominence in the school curriculum. Language students obtained a greater comprehension of other subjects aided by their increased vocabularies. English derivatives, stems, and meanings held new significance, as Latin, German, and Spanish students ventured into these unknown spheres of learning.

From Math Evolves Power of Reason

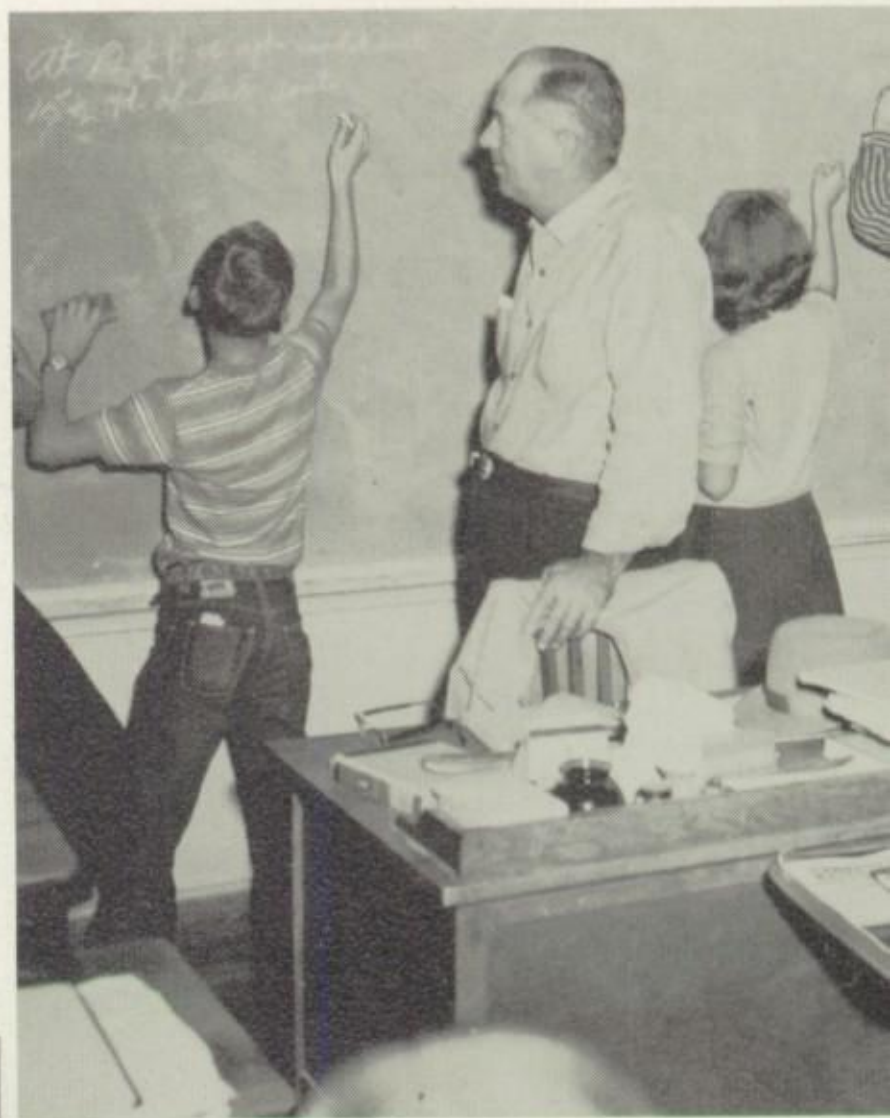

"MR. MULLENS, why can't two plus two equal five?" "Mr. Williams, are you sure it will always work?" Such remarks often echoed from PHS math classes. How many times have we heard Mr. Lively say, "Into each life some rain must fall," or Mr. Barnett remark calmly, "It's in the book?"

Under supervision of the teachers, students learned to attack their problems and work them out logically. As they realized the importance of math in the world, they availed themselves of every opportunity to increase their knowledge of this essential subject.

Physical Talents Produce Honors, Top Musicians

"WOULD YOU like to buy some candy?" "I have a wide selection of magazines; which one would you like?" These were the words heard frequently from band and music members. Sales, mixed with performances and practices, trips and tryouts, kept these students buzzing among fellow students and friends. The music students were the part of the school that was out in front of the public most—parades, concerts, ensembles—yet with their talents and hard work, they did their best and represented the school well.

Modern Missile Age Trains Future Scientists

AS SCIENCE sank deeper into the minds and hearts of all Americans, it produced curiosity in the students. This seed, planted deep in the inquisitive minds, found its growth and answers from teachers, who gave to each student knowledge of more than that which meets the eye. As a fantastic new world was unfolded before the eyes of man, physics, biology, chemistry, and general science became popular subjects, training more and more students for the scientific field.

WHILE THE smell of smoke escaped from the homeroom department, and the sounds of screeching tires, repeated broken gadgets, and continual clicking of office machines came from the vicinity of the school campus, students were only acquiring knowledge by doing. "Experience is the best teacher" as the old saying goes, and thus vocational students developed their abilities. As vocations appeared to be a question with many, talents were adjusted to fit desired lines of work, and students prepared for their future.

"Surprise, surprise!" In the December meeting of the Student Council, members are presenting Mrs. Booth with a Christmas gift, an air-conditioner for her office.

WILL THE Student Council please order?" President Bill Mathews emphasized with a rap of the gavel. Thus ended meetings of the student body government. Representatives met every other Tuesday during fourth period in the vocational agriculture room. As leaders of the school, members proposed and carried out various projects—a victory flag, school spirit, meeting of Northeast Texas Student Council Forum, and improvements on the stage, in the hall, and in the projection room.

It was up to the Student Council to act as leaders, good workers, and honest citizens, because they were the democratic government of each class, each organization, each individual in setting up a better school with better ideals. The Council exemplified the new school motto, "Belief in your school; belief in yourself."

Service Is Gladly Offered

DEPENDABILITY was the chief trait of the emcees, projectionists, auditorium assistants, and custodians. By performing their duties faithfully and willingly each day, they made our school life pleasant.

AS WE registered, misty-eyed Seniors, we realized that our dreams of graduation were actually becoming a reality. ELECTIONS FOR Owl Sweethearts started campaign ball rolling for Seniors as they duly presented their nominees, Buffy Graham and Ralph Shelton, in a skit entitled "Candyland Nation." Poster parties, telephone campaigns, and Senior spirit were all combined to make that the upperclassmen's efforts were not in vain, as they captured the cherished honor of Owl Sweethearts.

For the second consecutive year, the 1959 Seniors snared the coveted title of Owl Sweethearts from their nominees. And for the second time, they had Owl Sweethearts presented in a novel way—this year during intermission at the Masquerade Ball and in 1958 at the Junior Jamboree. Again seniors led the way, as they received the prizes in the most original and the most beautiful costumes. The Tri-Hi-Y and Owl Staff were hosts for the party.

Projects in Ice Cream Year Are Planned and Presented by Capable Officers

IN THE spring of 1958, the Junior Class met in the library for a special meeting—time had come for electing Senior officers. Careful consideration was required, but as future Seniors, we realized that competent leaders were essential for a successful year. After nominations, the candidates were narrowed to two for each office. Then the next day before school, the final runoff was held in the library.

As students approached the "polls," a swarm of campaigners hovered over their heads, eager to have the "right" nominee win. After casting secret ballots, they went to first period classes to await the results, which were posted before noon. The leaders selected for the spring for 1958-59 planned class activities, brought forth new ideas, and represented the Seniors on all occasions.

After an attack of campaigners, waiting in line, and careful consideration, Mary McGuire and Patsy Womack mark their spots for Senior Class Officers.

While Supporting Paris High School Activities

HOMECOMING IN October was one of the biggest events of the year. The crowning of the queen, welcoming of the exes, parade, and game were combined to make the tasty ingredients. For Seniors it was the third Homecoming they had attended, but this year it was something more than before—it was their Homecoming. Suddenly lockers had to be cleaned, rooms straightened, and every nook and cranny spick-and-span. Setting out in full swing, all classes helped with preparations for Homecoming, making it something special in the hearts of all for years to come. The 1958 Homecoming was sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y, Yell Leaders, and the Owl Staff.

SCHOLARSHIP IS not to be forgotten at PHS. In March 1958, Juniors broke another record with 143 taking the National Merit Scholarship Test. All of the hard studying and good grades from the past were not in vain, for true knowledge was distinguished in these tests. At nine o'clock the hall was filled with eager Juniors ready to begin. Then after preliminary instructions by Mrs. Booth and Miss Hankins, minds were set to work—brain work that left each participant weary when quitting time came a few minutes past noon. Yet these efforts received their reward when the tests were interpreted in early December of the Senior year, for the scores drew a vivid picture for each Senior.

"GENIE MAGIC" will always be spoken softly by starry-eyed 1959 Seniors, for "Genie Magic" was the reception they, as Juniors, gave for the 1958 Seniors. How could anyone ever forget dancing in a garden under an enchanting blue sky, or sipping punch handed us by exotic "foreign" servers while serenaders played sweet music from an Arabian tent? All of the hours of work on palm trees, satin pillows, a magic lamp, and all the little extras were forgotten as we were lost in a far-away land.

For the first time, Juniors present the program at the Junior-Senior Reception. Bill Amis, the Genie of Aladdin's miraculous lamp, offers his services to the owner, Denis Frank as Aladdin.

Juniors Encounter Exciting Firsts

S JUNIORS became upperclassmen, new things were added to their iculum. Along with the usual picture taking, parties, sports, elections, re were ads to sell for the Senior class play program, Junior-Senior eption to plan, Stunt Night to produce, and all of the organizations n thrilling initiations opened their doors to them. All in all, Juniors e many tasks to perform, and the 1959 Juniors left their imprint in annals of Paris High School.

Taking advantage of the opportunities given all Juniors, James Laster prepares for National Merit Scholarship test.

ALL YEAR in almost every phase of school activity, Sophomores found a way to work in Paris High. They "used the roof" in pep rallies and led the way in social activities with their sophomore "Brawls" in the gym. When it came to making money, they were really batting high. Candy sales made a big boost in the Sophomore treasury in anticipation of a truly wonderful senior year. Sophomores were really standing in '59 and were well prepared to become upperclassmen.

Sophomores put forth effort in yelling loudest during the school spirit contest, not knowing they were to receive the prize.

AS FAMILIAR as a vanilla ice cream cone — These are the names, faces, and places that became a part of each student. These are the familiar businesses where we spent our allowances, bought our daily cokes, saw the latest movies, and spent grueling hours searching for the perfect party dress. Ads in THE OWL showed us where to go for our clothing, food and fun. These advertisers added the final topping to our unforgettable Ice Cream Year, the Days of Our Youth.

Story of the Year Begins in March 1958

ing period is in session for '59 staffers. Read-magazines and looking through other year-s get "green" minds ticking on yearbook jour-m.

rrupting their sessions of discussing a ne for '59 Owl, staff members enjoy sippin' s and munchin' hamburgers.

ime for choosing staff positions and the respon-ity of taking over draws near, '58 staff member, a Baker, briefs up-and-coming Juniors on her EVERY STORY must have a beginning, even so the story of your yearbook. It began so long ago . . . in fact, last February when we first filled out ques-tionnaires asking for a staff position to help com-pile your yearbook.

Preface to the story was our reading. As un-knowing Juniors we read magazines, magazines, magazines, all preparing us for the book we were to produce, giving us vital information upon which to build our dreams of a yearbook into realities. During these months we filled our minds and fitted ourselves for staff positions, as the weak were weeded from the strong, and The 1959 Owl staff was chosen.

First on the agenda for planning the book was the choosing of a theme or plot. After careful think-ing and diligent research, we began to realize that the year to come was really Our Ice Cream Year, The Days of Our Youth. During the summer this theme was developed and layouts were drawn. Sep-tember first came and with it our very first deadline. The introduction to our story, the first sixteen pages, was completed and sent to the publisher.

To buy a book, the public must be aware of it. This was the objective put forth for O-Day, our new idea for circulation campaign, lasting twenty-eight hours and bringing in 795 yearbook sales. During this period high school students were literally in-vaded by "door-to-door" salesmen. Results? Another idea tried and success gained.

With the help of forty-six Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, records were broken for selling the most advertising in the shortest time, making it possible for us to receive our rewards, Owl jacket, just in time for the THSPA Convention in Denton. But ads didn't stop with the sales; copy had to be written and pages sent to the publisher for the biggest deadline we faced.

Betty Burks helps distribute sales packets to some of the ninety-four Owl salesmen who will swarm over the student body for twenty-eight hours during O-Day.

As the ad campaign begins, an orientation program is in order. Here eager salesmen learn the do's and don't's of selling advertising.

Una May O'Brien and Kay Bankhead check names and numbers for Seniors, as that "last" class picture is made.

Owl Staffers' Domain, Mixt Of Tears, Joy, and Learn

DEADLINES PROVED work for all staffers; writing ing records, and proofing kept each of us busy trying to stay until "dark-thirty." Yet it was here in Room 11 we saw, with each deadline met, our yearbook come. Striving to capture this year as it was lived, photogr went out to catch school action in pictures, while brought in the "in-betweens" with words.

But work wasn't the only thing that filled our time. Bi parties, special occasions, and trips found their way in crowded calendar. Trips to Taylor Publishing Company us more about the publishing of our yearbook, whi THSPA convention in Denton proved eventful. Our car for treasurer, Judy Sherman, completed a successful car by being elected, even though the campaign posters we at home.

All work and no play could give anyone a case of w cramps, so the Owl staff took time out for a Christmas progressive style.

And now as the climax of our story draws near, w the future, knowing that we have done our best to pleas May 11, 1959, will be the last chapter in our story. Bu as we foresee this day, we fully realize that it could no been possible without the help of wonderful people. A we end our story, not as so many literary pieces do, bu acknowledgements at the end, because without them would have been no end, not even a beginning.

Checking and carefully re-checking errors fou proofing is a big job, as each deadline is met th out the year.

It looks as if Jo Anne Bowen is being "razzed" by fellow staff members, as she prepares to trea to a piece of her birthday cake.

Friday night's banquet highlights the THSPA Convention for journalism students. Soliciting votes continues even through the meal, as campaign balloons float through the air.

Bill Beal, representing The 1958 Owl, receives from THSPA assistant, a plaque for first place during the convention in Denton.

AND NOW The 1959 Owl staff extends its sincere appreciation to The Paris News, Bill and Ronnie Thompson, Evans Audio, Taylor Publishing Company, Mr. Jay Tom Holley, and Mr. Bill Wheat for professional services. Without their help the book could not be what it is.

All students who helped with advertising and circulation, the student body and faculty for curiosity and eagerness to help—to these, thanks.

Our sponsor, Miss Martha Hankins, who was our guiding light and inspiration to make us strive for a yearbook to be proud of. To have been without her would have been as a book without pages.

The 1959 Owl Staff

In addition to taking pictures for both The Owl and 'Meow, Photographers Richard Jackson and Bill train five Sophomores (the "little boys") to take pictures next year.

Owl jackets arrive just in time for the trip to Denton! Mary Ann Harlan receives hers while Miss Hankins smiles her approval. All staff members receive jackets if the budget allows.

Reading magazines is an essential part of yearbook journalism even after the yearbook nears its publication date. A journalism student must keep up on the latest trends.

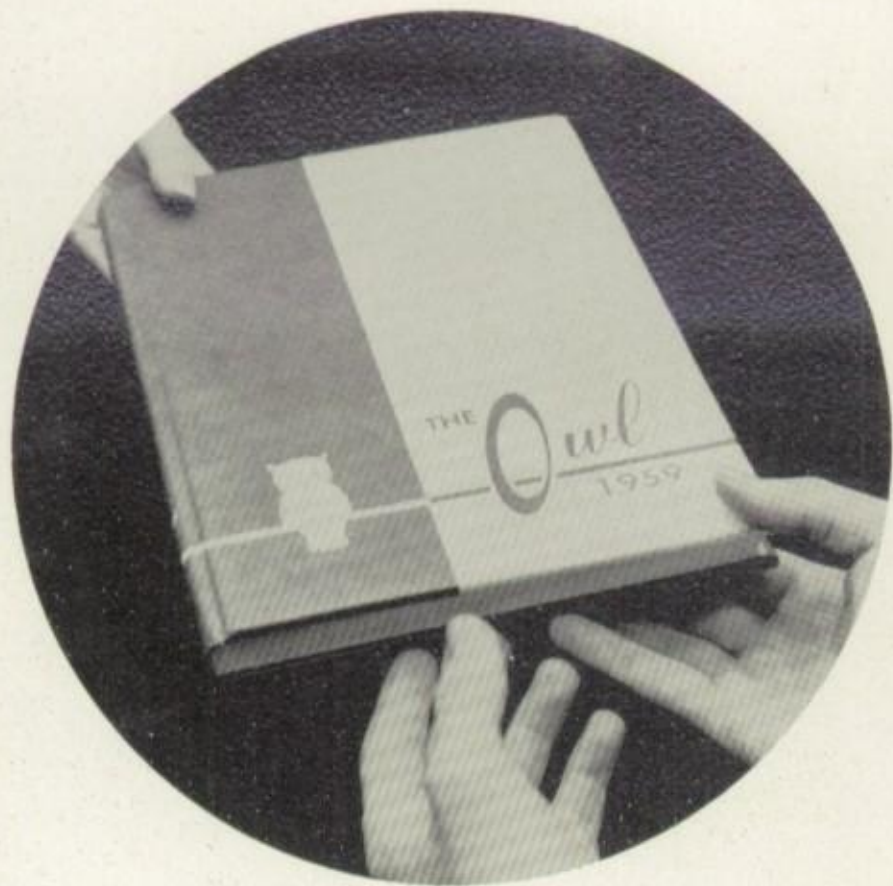

Preceding the February 1st deadline, Miss Hankins discusses the shipment with Mr. Jay Tom Holley, our Taylor Representative, and Mr. Ed McMeans, Taylor Consultant, while the staff learns how the book is printed.

Last Written Word

THE THEME has been chosen, layout drawn, and copy written. You, the student body, have given us so much; now it's time to give to you the reward for a year of work from March, 1958 to March, 1959 . . . time for us to

Our Ice Cream Year, The Days of Our

Circle: And now from the hands of the staff, The 1959 Owl is presented to you, its public.

For the last time, Editor Ginna Stone and Business Manager Regina Spencer lock the door to the room of all their hopes, dreams, and ambitions of the past year, The Owl office.
